The highest protection thanks to Polyfoil® tubes

Our pharmaceutical tubes provide the best protection for the contents and the users.

They are perfectly suited as packaging for animal health, dermatology (skincare), ophthalmology (oral ophthalmology), oral care (oral hygiene) or pain relief treatments.

Polyfoil® pharma tubes production

For over 50 years, we have produced our unique high Polyfoil® tubes for the pharmaceutical industry at our family-run business in Switzerland – and will do in our factory in Wilson, North Carolina (United States) too, from 2019. For each tube, we have the highest standards of hygiene in our clean room production as well as in the processing of certified pharmaceutical materials.

Award-winning pharmaceutical developments by Neopac

Together with our customers, we have developed the next generation of tube, which is technologically connected, sustainable and user-friendly. The result is the right tube for every application – and regular packaging awards for innovation, usability and quality.
